

Privacy Terms

Netservia LLC the owner and operator of Emarketnow.com respects the privacy of its online visitors and users of its products and services and complies with the Privacy Shield Framework as agreed to by the US Department of Commerce. Netservia recognizes the importance of protecting information collected from users and has adopted this privacy policy to inform users about how Netservia gathers, stores, and uses information derived from their use of Netservia products, services and online sites.

This policy is current as of its last revision date. However, please note that this policy may be amended from time to time to reflect changes and additions to the privacy policy. Please check back for the most current version before relying on any of the provisions in this privacy policy.

Collection of Information

By using Netservia's online sites, products, and services, users agree that Netservia collects and processes the personally identifiable information. Netservia will not share any personally identifiable information with other parties except as described in this policy.

Personally Identifiable Information

"Personally identifiable information" is information that can be used to uniquely identify a user such as name, address, email address, IP address, or credit card number. You may be asked to provide personally identifiable information during the sign in process, and then in connection with the use of Netservia's products, services and online sites. While Netservia collects personally identifiable information on a voluntary basis, for certain products and services Netservia's collection of personally identifiable information may be a requirement for access to the product or service or to process a user's order.

Use of personally identifiable information

Personally identifiable information is used internally by Netservia to deliver, develop and improve products, content and services, to which users have subscribed, and to answer users' requests. In addition, Netservia may allow third parties performing services under contract with Netservia, such as payment processors to access and use personally identifiable information, but only to the extent necessary to provide those services.

Netservia may use personally identifiable information provided by users to send them information about Netservia, including news about product updates, contests, events, and other promotional materials, but only if the users agree to receive such communications. Netservia will not share any personally identifiable information with third parties for marketing purposes without your consent.

When you create an account on Emarketnow.com, Netservia collects a user's email address and username, website address, IP address, and at the user's option, first and last name. Netservia has no obligation to keep private personally identifiable information that a user makes available to other users via Emarketnow.com or other Netservia software or other public functions.

External websites and companies with links to and from Netservia's online sites and products may collect personally identifiable information about users when users visit their websites. Netservia's privacy policy does not extend to external websites and companies or third party publishers with links to or from Netservia's products and online websites or who collect personally identifiable information through their analytics. Please refer directly to these companies and websites regarding their privacy policies.

Netservia may release personally identifiable information to comply with court orders or laws that require us to disclose such information. In the event of a reorganization, sale or merger we may transfer personally identifiable information to the relevant third party with the user's consent if required by law.

Children Under The Age of 13

Netservia will not knowingly collect personally identifiable information from any person under the age of 13. Netservia encourages parents to instruct their children to never give out personal information when online. Parents who are concerned about the transfer of personal information from their children may contact us.

Cookies and Other Information on a User's Machine

Netservia's products, services and sites may employ cookies and other technologies such as web beacons and pixel tags. Cookies are bits of electronic information that can be transferred to a user's hard drive to customize a person's use of a product or online site, keep records of a user's access to an online site or product, or store information needed by the user on a regular basis. Use of cookies is typically associated with websites. For example, when you sign in to Emarketnow.com, Netservia stores your user id and a combination of your IP address and time of login as a cookie on your hard drive. This cookie allows you to move from page to page without having to sign in again on each page. Similarly, if you enter information during your session, such as age verification data, this will be stored as a cookie and you will not have to re-enter such information during that session. We may also use third party web site analytic tools that employ cookies to collect certain non-personally identifiable information concerning use of our websites, such as referring web site addresses, page views and browser types.

However, users can disable cookies by changing their browser settings.

Netservia may also store on a user's hard drive a unique authorization key that is either entered by the user or downloaded automatically during product registration. This authorization key is used to identify a user as valid and allow access to Netservia's products, services and third party games. This key is necessary for Netservia to supply any products and services subscribed by users.

Information regarding Emarketnow.com billing, a user's Emarketnow.com account, a user's Internet connection and the Netservia software installed on a user's computer is uploaded to the server in connection with the user's use of Emarketnow.com and Netservia software. Netservia software automatically generates and submits to Netservia bug reports upon a crash or other fault in the Netservia software, services. This automatically generated bug report information may include information about other software or hardware on a user's system. Netservia does not associate and store the automatically generated bug report information with users' personally identifiable information. Any bug reporting information manually submitted by users (e.g. through Netservia's Bug Reporter form) is associated and stored with personally identifiable information sent voluntarily by the user through a bug report.

Chat Forums, Etc.

Netservia's products or services may provide chat, forums, bulletin boards, or instant messaging tools to users. Any information that is disclosed in chat, forums or bulletin boards should be considered public information, and users who message one another may not know each other personally. Netservia has no obligation to keep private personally identifiable information that a user makes available to other users or the public using these functions. Users should exercise caution when deciding to disclose personal information in public forums.

Choice/Opt-out

Netservia gives users the option to receive promotional email communications from Netservia. Users may opt out of these communications. Instructions for discontinuing receipt of promotional email communications from Netservia will be provided in email communications to users.

Storage and Security of Personally Identifiable Information

Personally identifiable information provided to Netservia will be collected, processed and stored by Netservia LLC in the United States. Netservia has taken reasonable steps to protect the information users share with us, including, but not limited to, setup of processes, equipment and software to avoid unauthorized access or disclosure of this information.

Payment Data
